

'Eat regular meals – evidence shows that regular eating and spreading out your calories can really help to provide a template for healthier eating. Plan ahead so you know what you are going to eat, and try not to deviate from the plan. If you're using a food diary, fill it in in advance to give the motivation you need.'